INFOSCREENS POWERED BY COLIBO

Colibo Infoscreen is a user-friendly and flexible solution for informing employees at certain places in the building or colleagues working independently without PCs or mobile phones. The solution also allows the distribution of content to screens in other locations.

Integrated with your intranet or as a stand-alone solution

Whether Colibo intranet is already in use or you want a separate infoscreen solution, you can use the Colibo Infoscreen solution to strengthen communication in all corners of the organization. There is no requirement that you first have to implement an entire intranet project before rolling out an infoscreen solution.

You manage the content of the screen quickly and intuitively with Colibo's layout editor. The solution is perfect for receptions, cafeterias, office environments, common areas and production facilities.

Flexible content management gives you exactly the information you need

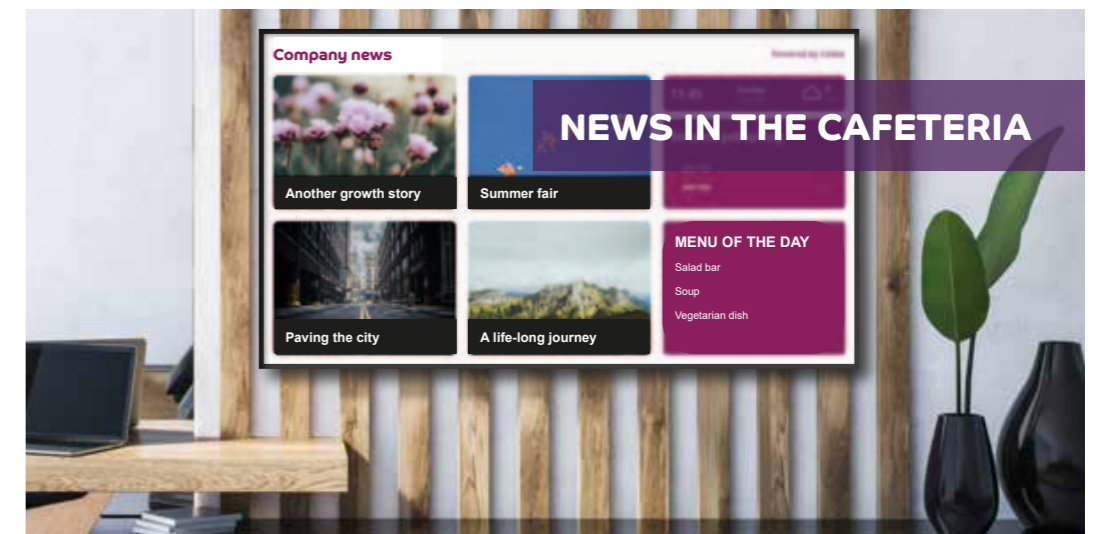

In the sales department, you can choose to display a dashboard with sales KPIs and upcoming meetings.

Data can be automated using widgets from Colibo Marketplace.

In the cafeteria, you can read the latest news and the menu of the day.

The content on the screen is updated by designated editors.

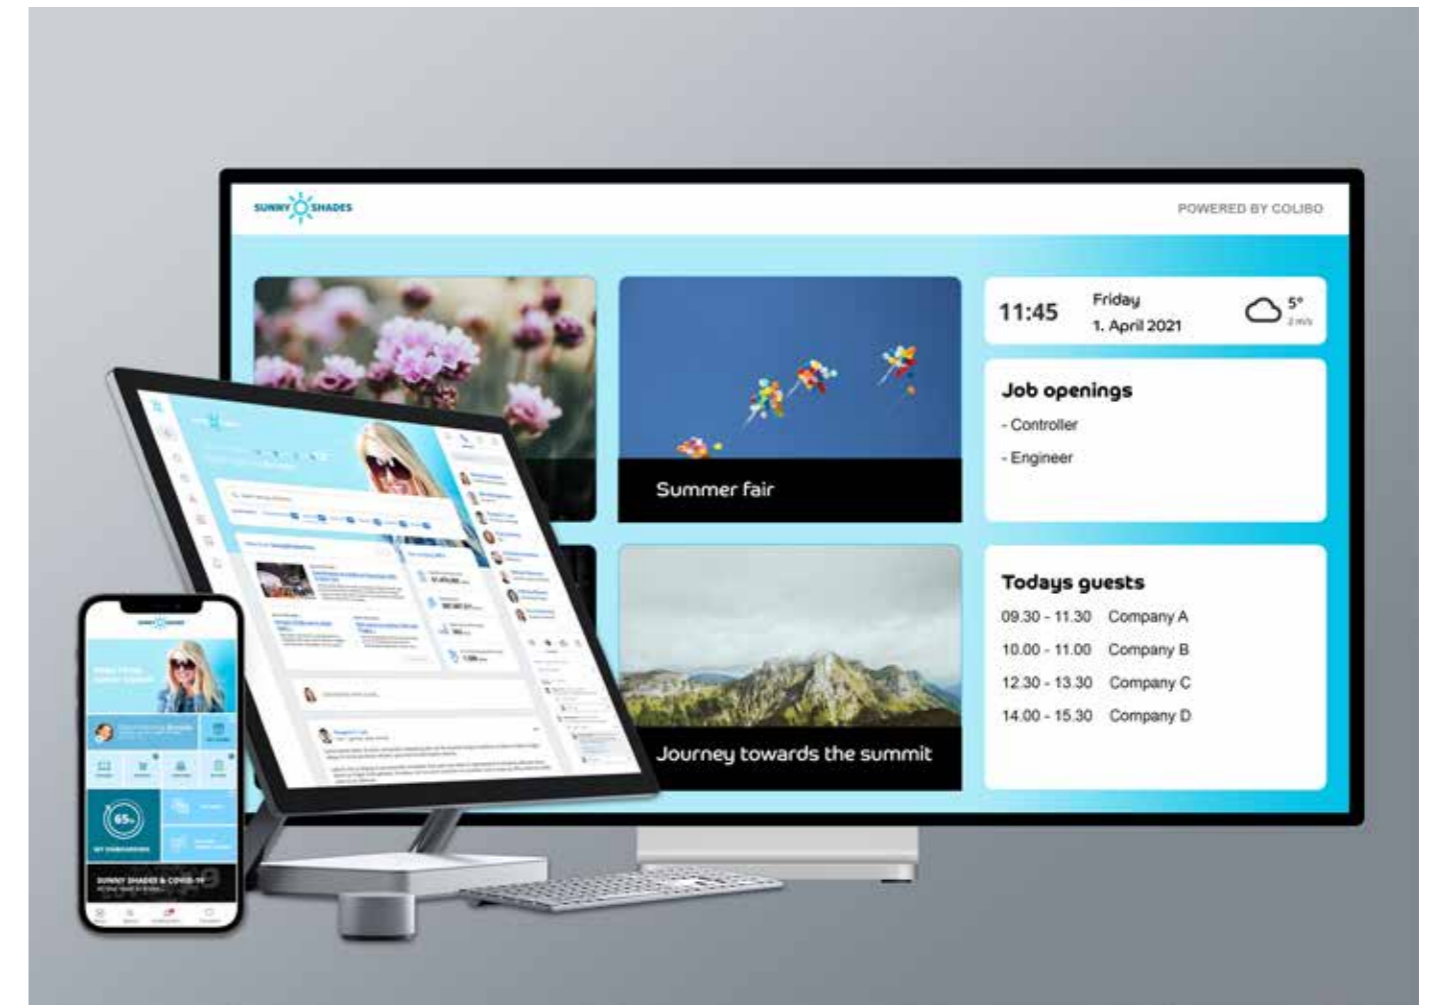

In the reception area, guests can see the time and place of their meeting on the screen.

The content on the screen can be updated locally by the receptionist.

Flexible integration

Colibo Infoscreen offers great possibilities for integrating content from your intranet or third-party systems. The screen content is held by widgets, which are flexible content fields that you can customize as you see fit. As a result, you get a solution that provides maximum value.

Colibo Intranet is a flexible hybrid solution optimized for both mobile devices, desktop screens and infoscreens.

Flexible management of content and user rights

Colibo Infoscreen gives you the same familiar 'drag-and-drop' layout control that characterizes Colibo Intranet. You can easily create new content and distribute it on all screens in your organization or in groups of screens – regardless of type and location.
